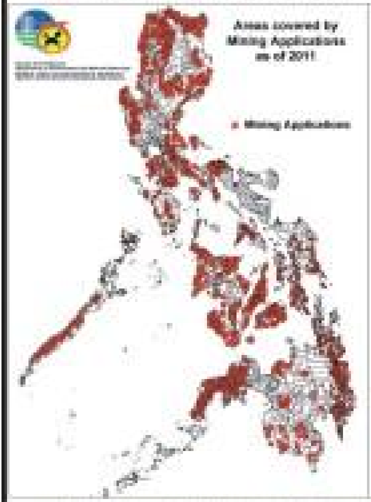
PHILIPPINE MINING FOOTPRINT: CORRECTING MISCONCEPTIONS

A COMMON MISCONCEPTION among some NGOs is that all applications for exploration permits filed with the Mines and Geosciences Bureau (see left map below) will eventually be approved, granting the applicants the right to mine 40 percent of the 30 million total land area of the Philippines – equivalent to 12 to 14 million hectares covered by these applications.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

There are 27 existing large-scale mines that occupy only 60,000 hectares – about 35 percent the size of Quezon City (see right map). The 60,000-hectare footprint of all these mines is equivalent to only 0.2 percent of the total Philippine landmass – well within the figures of US and South Africa (less than 1 percent) and Australia (0.06 percent), economies where mining is a major contributor to economic growth.



Another misconception is that a mining application automatically results in mining. Global statistics show that out of 25,000 mining prospects, 500 will see some form of drilling or exploration, and of those 500 only ONE will go on to become a mine. Since the Philippines is better endowed with minerals, success ratio may be ONE mine out of 5,000 prospects.

Even if an additional 17 legitimate large scale mining projects were developed in the next five years – equivalent to some 30,000 hectares – the total footprint of all mining areas will account for no more than 90,000 hectares or only 0.3 percent of the Philippine landmass.

To conclude: legitimate large-scale mining sites occupy only 0.2 percent of the total country landmass. This small footprint has practically no significant impact on biodiversity, ecotourism, fishery, and agriculture.

CAMPI affirms efforts to push for progressive local automotive industry

[illegible]

[illegible]

Mr. [illegible] (NMPI) Vice President

[illegible]

The Chamber of Automotive Manufacturers of the Philippines Inc. or CAMPI recently affirmed the continued support and active participation from its 12 member companies towards the development of a progressive local automotive industry.

CAMPI announced the new set of officers for this year who will lead the association towards this objective. In the recent election of CAMPI member companies, Atty. [illegible] Gutierrez of Toyota Motor Philippines Corporation was voted as CAMPI President, while [illegible] of Mitsubishi Motors Philippines and [illegible] of Nissan Motor Philippines were elected as Vice President and Treasurer respectively. [illegible] also assumed the leadership post left vacant by its previous president [illegible] was elected as CAMPI Chairman Emeritus.

CAMPI also mentioned that it will monitor the replacement of former Secretary General [illegible] and Executive Manager Dr. [illegible] who left last month, to allow it to review the organization's daily undertakings.

CAMPI President Atty. [illegible] Gutierrez said that, "CAMPI will continue to work closely with the government particularly the Board of Investments under the Department of Trade and Industry and other industry associations under the Philippine Automotive Federation Inc. (PAFI) such as Philippine Automotive Competitiveness Council Incorporated or PACCI and Truck Manufacturers Association (TMA) in re-crafting the new Motor Vehicle Development Program or MVDP.

The proposal of CAMPI will also take off from the roadmap which was drafted by Philippine Automotive Federation Inc. or PAFI. CAMPI showed its support in the recently concluded PACCI Summit which identified opportunities for market expansion and also highlighted the importance of enhancing the competitiveness of the local auto manufacturing sector to be able to attract more manufacturers to provide additional investments in the country.

The immediate concern of the local automotive sector is to capture a sizeable share of the ASEAN market when it is consolidated into a single market by 2015 and as an alternative ASEAN production hub on the manufacture of motor vehicles and auto parts. Currently ASEAN is [illegible] in the process of harmonizing vehicle standards and establishing Mutual Recognition Arrangement to achieve free flow of goods in the single market.

This roadmap, when finalized, will be formally presented to the BOI, outlining the steps to be taken to expand the domestic production and sales of motor vehicles and eventually lead to export of completely built up units and parts and components by increasing competitiveness by reducing cost through government's timely policy support.

Members CAMPI is also optimistic that local demand for brand new vehicles will further increase this year given the improvement of supply and [illegible] in improved spending [illegible] both the government and private sectors. With this, CAMPI members are forecasting growth of the auto industry to be around [illegible] this year or [illegible] units.

Currently regular CAMPI members include Asian Carmakers Corp. (BMW), Columbian Autocar Corp. (Kia), Columbian Manufacturing Corp. (Chevrolet Brand), Honda Cars Philippines Inc., Isuzu Philippines Corp., Mitsubishi Motors Philippines Corp., Nissan Motor Philippines Inc., Toyota Motor Philippines Corp., Universal Motor Corporation (Nissan light commercial vehicles). Associate members are CATS Motors (Mercedes Benz & Chrysler), PGA Cars Inc. (Audi, Porsche & Lamborghini) and Suzuki Motor Philippines.

SEXY IS BACK!

Let's face it. Motorola [illegible] phones. Not just normal call and text phones, Motorola devices through the years evolved from preferable to amazingly beautiful. Now after years of letting other companies take the limelight with their own smartphones, Motorola is back. Indeed, SEXY IS BACK!

Fashionistas, prepare yourselves with the unveiling of the new Motorola RAZR.

Like angel in a catwalk, the RAZR closes with an impossibly thin design — a marvel of engineering. Thinner than your friends' smartphones, better looking too, with sculpted glass and diamond-cut aluminum accents.

Super Strong, Not Super Sized

RAZR is made strong with KEVLAR fibre, while Corning Gorilla Glass helps the screen stand up to scratches and scrapes. RAZR is protected with a splash-guard coating — even the electrical boards inside.

Dual-Core Power

The powerful dual-core 1.2 GHz processor lets you act as fast as you can think, while the 1GB of RAM keeps the momentum going. Get ready to rule your world!

MotoCast: Anytime, Anywhere Access

MotoCast, a free Motorola app built in to RAZR, lets you safely and effortlessly stream music, movies and pictures from your PC. Across the street or across the country you can rock your playlists or flip through pictures, without using up your phone's memory.

A Display To Put On Display

Whether you stream or download movies, the super vibrant colors of the Super AMOLED Advanced display make watching flicks on the go just as thrilling as watching at home on your HDTV. And new motion-blur technology keeps the action smooth, so you can focus on the story.

Real Cameras Life Has Never Looked Better

Capture the excitement with the 8MP camera and 1080p HD video recording for crisp, clear, cinematic quality images. Your video captures will be especially smooth, thanks to technology that helps stabilize the camera. And, see things eye-to-eye on your next incoming call with the front-facing HD video camera.

Smart Actions Always Optimized

The smart Actions app on RAZR helps you with everyday tasks, to keep your phone — and your life — optimized. Turn down the ringer when you step into work. Adjust settings when home to save battery. Send a text to your wife if you miss her call. Let Smart Actions take care of it all.

Securely, Your Secrets Are Safe

Your whole life is in your phone, and some of that, you'd like to keep private — especially when it comes to work stuff. Government-grade encryption protects your email, contacts and calendar.

The Motorola RAZR is expected to [illegible] a share in the smartphone market — [illegible]
